

Spread Knowledge, Not Germs

It's as easy as A-B-C!

A is for Assess

Identify high-touch areas like doorknobs, desks, light switches, and water fountain buttons. Focus on spaces where germs are most likely to spread — classrooms, cafeterias, and restrooms.

B is for Break the Chain

Use EPA-approved disinfectants to disinfect surfaces regularly and effectively. Breaking the chain of transmission means using the right products and methods to kill 99.9% of germs before they spread.

C is for Consistency

Create a routine cleaning schedule and stick to it. Consistent disinfection ensures long-term protection and builds trust with staff, students, and families.

Help break the chain of transmission of germs with Lysol®.

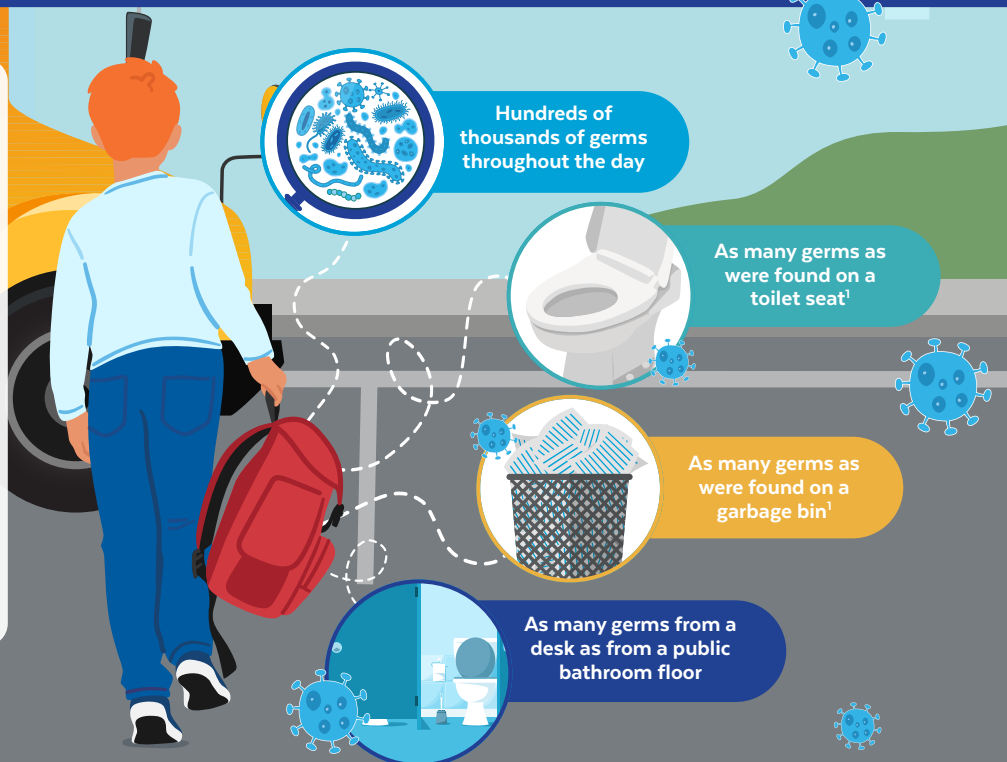

Get SMART about School Hygiene!

Stop Microbes And Reduce Transmission.

Schools are high-traffic areas where germs can spread quickly.

Lysol® Pro Solutions measured the number of germs backpacks can pick up throughout the day. Here is what our scientists discovered. Objects such as backpacks can pick up:
